Utah Department of Health - ASQ Tools to Aid Your Program

Serving young children and their families is what childcare programs are all about. You do what you do because you care. At the Bureau of Child Development in the Utah Department of Health, we understand that, we honor that, and we want to help you do it. Our Early Childhood Utah program currently offers two game-changing tools to assist you in the good work you’re already doing. The Ages and Stages Questionnaire (ASQ) and the Strengthening Families Protective Factor Framework can help improve clarity and precision in your work with families.

The Bureau is offering to partner with interested childcare programs in the service of families; we provide access to training, materials, tools, and ongoing support in integrating the ASQ into your program. In addition to providing insight on how to work with a specific child in the moment, screening is the first step to identifying children who could benefit from additional services to improve their outcomes now and down the road.

We’re also in the process of applying and adapting the Strengthening Families Protective Factors Framework to a variety of fields across the state. This strengths-based framework puts the work that we do with individual children every day in the larger context of the family, and what each partner, program, and provider contributes to that family’s development of the five protective factors:

- Parental Resilience
- Social Connections
- Knowledge of parenting and child development
- Concrete support in times of need
- Social and emotional competence of children

To learn more about either of these efforts, please reach out to your local Care About Childcare center, or contact the Program Coordinator within the Bureau of Child Development, Justin Nuckles, directly at:

What to Give to Parents: Social Security Number or EIN?

Family child care providers should not give parents their Social Security number.

Parents want this number so they can claim the federal child care tax credit. They can use either your Social Security number or a business identification number.

The reason child care providers don’t want to pass out their Social Security number is because of the growing problem of identity theft. Giving out your Social Security number to different families year after year increases the chances that it will fall into the wrong hands.

Instead, get an Employer Identification Number (EIN) from the IRS and give this out to the parents of the children in your program. If you are hiring employees you must get an EIN.

You can get your EIN at www.irs.gov. It will take you less than fifteen minutes to fill out the online screens after which you will instantly receive your number. Only one question may be confusing to answer: “Why is the Sole Proprietor requesting an EIN?” Unless you are hiring employees, answer “Started a New Business” even if you have been in business for years.

There is no fee to get your EIN. If you already have an EIN from a previous business you can use the same number as a child care provider.

If you prefer, you can call the IRS at 800-829-4933 and get your EIN on the phone after answering a few questions.

This rule will be strictly enforced!
In July of 2013 we announced a change to the Career Ladder System that will require Early Childhood Professionals to have a Demonstrated Competency by July 1, 2018. Here are a few of the frequently asked questions that we have received about this change.

- What is a Demonstrated Competency?
  A Demonstrated Competency (D.C.) is comprised of training, assessment, and an observation. A D.C. indicates that an Early Childhood Professional has taken at least 120 hours of training and is able to put that training into practice. These D.C.s are recognized throughout the state of Utah, belong to the provider not the program, and are portable. Providers who have earned a D.C. can take it with them anywhere they go in licensed care in Utah and have it count.

- Why are we now being required to get a D.C.?
  The Office of Child Care (OCC) manages the Utah Registry for Professional Development (URPD/CCPDI) where the annual Professional Development Incentives come from. The Federal Administration for Children and Families monitors the OCC. The Federal Office has told OCC that every dollar given to providers needs to be tied to quality, and that quality needs to be verified. The new D.C. will fulfill those federal requirements.

- How can I get a D.C. if I am new to the Career Ladder?
  There are pathways that anyone can choose from in order to get a D.C., you can find them on the URPD website at: https://urpd.usu.edu/

- Is there a cost for a CDA?
  Yes, the cost is $425; however, any provider currently working in a licensed child care program is eligible for a scholarship of $425. Visit CCPDI at https://urpd.usu.edu/ and click on the Scholarship option.

- Is there assistance for me if I want to get my CDA and I am not sure how to get started or need some support?
  Yes! Each of the local Care About Childcare Agencies have CDA Coaches that can give all kinds of free support. Just contact your local CAC agency. http://www.careaboutchildcare.usu.edu

- What if I already have a Level 5, 6, 7 or 8 and I earned it before the change?
  You may choose any of the pathways listed on the URPD website or you may choose from two additional pathways that are available just for you.
  1. Training that includes the 6 specific classes + observation + portfolio
  2. Training that includes the 6 specific classes + observation + 4 CEU’s from the local Care About Childcare Agencies

- What are the six specific classes that are needed for some of the options?
  1. Ages & Stages
  2. Learning in the Early Years
  3. A Great Place for Kids
  4. Strong & Smart
  5. Learning to Get Along
  6. Advanced Child Development

- Where do I find out more information about what is in the portfolio option?
  Visit the URPD website at https://urpd.usu.edu/. Go to the Professional Development Tab, the Demonstrated Competencies Tab, and click on this option.

- Where do I find out what is in an observation and how I can arrange to get an observation?
  Visit the URPD website at https://urpd.usu.edu/. Go to the Professional Development Tab, the Demonstrated Competencies Tab, and click on Observation Information.

- Is there a cost for an observation?
  Yes, the cost is $100; however, scholarships are available through URPD. Simply contact URPD at https://urpd.usu.edu/ and click on Scholarship Option.

- What will happen if I already have a higher level and I don’t want to get a D.C.?
  You will retain your Career Ladder Level, but will receive a lower amount for your Professional Development Incentive. If, at any time after the deadline you choose to get a demonstrated competency, your annual professional development Incentive will resume to the higher amount.
