Why Are Summer Activities Important?

Seventy-six percent of all Utah school age children 5-12 years old have parents in the work force, creating the potential for many children to be left unattended. Many children are not prepared to be left home alone. Children in self-care are more likely to engage in risky behaviors, be truant from school, experience stress, have poor grades and abuse substances. They are susceptible to feelings of loneliness, fear and boredom.

Summer activities are a wonderful way to offer fun, constructive activities to occupy your children’s time. Summer activities can give your children learning opportunities that not only help to ease their boredom, but can also help them become well-rounded, socially capable adults.

We, at Care About Childcare - USU, have gathered this list of possible summer activities that may be of interest to you and your children. We hope that you will take the time to talk to your children and help them choose the activities that are best suited to their interests and your needs. Please let us know if we can be of any further service to you.

Music and Movement Classes for Children
This is a program for young children, ages 6 months to 5 years, based on the Orff Schulwerk approach to teaching music. In this approach, children make music with activities that are enjoyable and natural for them such as simple songs, rhythms, and movements. Kids play on pitched and non-pitched percussion instruments that are colorful, kid-friendly and safe. During the learning process children improve their concentration, coordination, sensitivity to rhythm and tone, singing, and playing instruments. The participation and modeling of parents and teacher is essential to a child’s music growth. Music can be one of the most wonderful and strong forms of communication that parents and their child can experience together. Bring friends because music is better when it’s made together!

(435) 863-3511
Website: www.utahoutdooractivities.com/morton.html
At the rocket display, you'll see some of the rockets that Thiokol manufactures. Each rocket has a small plaque that explains what the rocket is and what it is used for, such as a rocket booster for the Space Shuttle.
Directions: The Morton Thiokol rocket display is approx. 25 miles from Brigham City on State Route 83. Once you've visited the rocket display you can continue to travel North on State Route 83 and it will take you to Interstate 84 which you may continue into Idaho, or once on 84 you may cut back to the east and re-connect to I-15.
